Raising A Thinking Child

The Raising A Thinking Child (RATC) program at the Adelphi University Institute for Parenting will teach you and your child a new and more effective way of communicating with each other.

This program will teach you how to help your child:

- Identify and think through problem situations and everyday conflicts
- Find solutions that work
- Get along better with others
- Cope with frustration and anger
- Care about and understand their own as well as others' feelings
- Realize there is more than one way to solve a problem
- Learn essential language skills in a fun-filled way

This program is taught through a refreshingly practical curriculum that helps you help your child learn how to think, not what to think. Through eight weekly classes and three monthly booster sessions with a trained instructor, along with interactive activities that are fun for you and your child to do at home, you will learn ways to help your child think in new problem-solving ways.

While you take the class, your child will have his/her own class and be introduced to the Raising A Thinking Child concepts through play, making it easier for you to use the RATC program at home!

FEES: The cost of learning this innovative and interactive parent education program is usually $195. However, the Institute for Parenting will be evaluating the effectiveness of this program for families and kids here on Long Island.

To show our appreciation for your participation in our full program (eight-week course, three monthly booster sessions, and three interviews designed to help us to evaluate the program), we will refund to you $60 of the program cost. Therefore, the total cost of this program will be only $135.
