SERVICES

CHOOSING A MAJOR / CAREER COUNSELING

Career counselors are available by appointment to help you choose a major, provide resume critiques, navigate the job search process, and prepare you for interviews. Through the use of assessment tools, counselors can help you identify what area of interest you might consider for your future by matching your interests to occupations.

INTERNSHIPS

Internships allow students to explore careers, clarify vocational objectives, and develop relevant experience for their résumé, while possibly earning academic credit or pay.

AMERICA READS/ COUNTS

This federal work study program encourages Adelphi students to become tutors for local public school children that need help in reading or math. Transportation is provided to some areas.

ON CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

Working with organizations, the Career Center brings employers to campus to interview interested students. Each year, more than 200 corporations, schools, hospitals and agencies visit campus for pre-scheduled interviews with selected candidates or attend our Annual Job and Internship Expo.

JOB LISTINGS

If you are looking for on campus employment, work-study positions, full time or part time jobs or internships, the Career Center can help you in three easy steps.

Students and Alumni may:

1. Register for PantherZone at www.students.adelphi.edu/career/pantherzone
2. Create a free profile
3. Search jobs and internships that are related to your individual interests and experience.

PRESENTATIONS

Attend workshops on résumé writing, interview preparation, internship exploration and major/career decision making, to develop the skills to succeed. The Career Center provides special presentations for academic classes and student groups. To request a career-related presentation for your group, call (516) 877-3130.

S.W.A.T. TEAM

Through per diem employment on the Student Worker Action Team (SWAT), you can decide if and when you want to work. Short-term, on-campus jobs are announced via email, and positions are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. To sign up to become a SWAT Team member, contact Jonathan Ivanoff at jivanoff@adelphi.edu

*NOTE: The Center for Career Development. does not guarantee a student or alumnus will obtain an internship or job opportunity.

Email

Students

COMMUNITY FELLOWS PROGRAM

With students finding it difficult to obtain good jobs and internships in the summer, Adelphi University developed a critical program that provided internship / fellowship assistance to 18 students going into their junior and senior years.

After completing a half-semester, 1- credit course during Spring 2010 Semester, focused on the nature and importance of the non-profit sector to the overall economy and society, students selected for this program were assigned to work at key non-profit organizations in the region this past summer.

With the support of President Scott, the program, operated by the Center for Career Development in conjunction with Adelphi University's Center for Non-Profit Leadership, offered 10-week fellowships at $3,000 per student. Hear what the students had to say about their experience as a Community Fellow.

Visit our Facebook page for videos capturing all the stories of the Community Fellows on site at their internships.

A Day in the Life of... an Adelphi Community Fellow

Natalie Andrade

Major: B.S. in English, May 2011
STEP Childhood Education, May 2012
Activities: Tri-Delta Sorority, Spanish Club,
Career Center student employee
Internship: National Multiple Sclerosis Society,
Long Island Chapter

This internship was designed so that I would be out in the field about 30% of the time with Jane Reilly, Senior Manager of Community Engagements and Public Education. Contacting people who have Multiple Sclerosis (MS), I educated them on the programs and services the society offers.

In my second week, I accompanied Jane Reilly to a member's home and witnessed a first-hand account of the debilitating progression of Multiple Sclerosis. This was an integral part of the experience because I actually met and saw the people the society is helping. I also visited two in-home care centers and attended educational seminars on how to care for someone who has MS. Sitting in on conference calls with societies from the North East region, we worked together to set up a series of teleconferences.

Collaborating a little bit with the development team, I promoted BIKE MS, a fundraiser conducted in September. Working on 10 grant proposals, I corresponded with various corporations and foundations. Learning a lot about the disease, I never knew there is also a pediatric population affected by MS. As a future teacher, I know I will encounter children with disabilities: cognitive and/or physical; or I might have a child who has a parent with a disability. I was able to build upon skills I know will be useful for me as a prospective elementary education teacher. Giving back to your community and helping to raise awareness of causes should be taught to students starting at a young age. This has truly been an enriching experience.

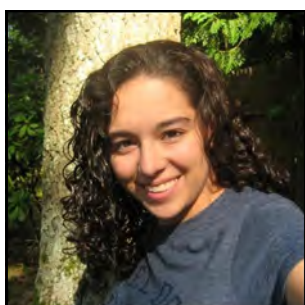

Joseph Dujmović

Major: B.A. in English, May 2011
STEP Adolescent Education, May 2012
Activities: Pi Lambda Phi Fraternity President,
Resident Assistant, Peer Assistant
Leader, The Delphian Business
Manager, Student Employee in CSI
Internship: Lighthouse International

While at the Lighthouse, I helped develop and implement a new fundraiser which the organization will be hosting in the Fall. The Lighthouse will be holding "Double Up 4 Vision," a tandem bike and walking event that pairs sighted and non-sighted individuals for a stroll on the Hudson River Waterfront. Being that this was the first time the organization was hosting the event, the project was put into my hands and I was given the ability to work on various aspects of the fundraiser: from marketing the event, to obtaining corporate sponsorships and recruiting volunteers to participate in the event. I had the chance to not only observe, but to assist in the full development of the project. Indeed, assisting with the "Double Up 4 Vision" event was a great way to see the amount of work involved in an event of this magnitude.

In addition to my contribution to the fundraising project, I was also a volunteer reader for the visually-impaired and assisted in Lighthouse's "Columbia Youth Summer Transition Program" which helps high school students to develop necessary life skills as they live with visual impairments and seeks to bridge the gap between the "sighted" and "non-sighted" world. While assisting in these classes, I gained a better understanding of what life was like for a person living with a visual impairment and have been continuously amazed by the people that Lighthouse serves on a daily basis.

Katie Correa

Major: Honors College
B.A. in English, May 2011
STEP Adolescent Education, May 2012
Activities: Newman Club President, L.I.F.E. Club, Symposium (Honors College Written Journal); writer & one of the editors
Dean Garner's Reading Circle, Student
Employee in Adelphi General Studies
Program
Internship: Long Island Works Coalition

I chose Long Island Works because I am passionate about its mission, the essence of which is to prepare today's students for tomorrow's workforce by creating partnerships between the academic and business communities. Long Island Works gave me the opportunity to witness how high school teachers have committed endless energy and enthusiasm to provide hands-on learning opportunities for their students, especially in high school Career Academies.

Three projects I have been heavily involved with behind-the-scenes are the Best Foot Forward Sneaker Drive, the Long Island Works STEM Expo for Middle School Students, and the Central Islip High School Green Career Fair. Through these projects, I have learned how to guide young minds in the direction of inspiring career possibilities.

As an English major and as someone who loves to write, I never thought that there would be any need for someone with my skills and interests in the business community. Never have I been so glad to find out I was wrong! "Word people" are crucial when it comes to Marketing, as their creativity with synonyms and alliteration is priceless when designing an event poster or advertising slogan. Also, I found that writing is essential for Public Relations, as a persuasive and well-written press release for the newspaper or for a website is an important way to display the great work that an organization does. As an intern at LI Works, writing was an integral aspect of every day – whether it was writing for our monthly e-Newsletter, the website, or even press releases for our local newspaper, the Pennysaver!

GREEN JOBS & INTERNSHIPS

The 'green' industry is booming and Washington D.C. just may be its epicenter. Every day, I get to develop and administer the ENERGY STAR program on behalf of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Though I started at ICF International as a consultant in December 2009, I have over two years' experience with ENERGY STAR in three different facets.

First, I interned at the EPA for over 8 months in Washington for EPA's ENERGY STAR Commercial Buildings. There I learned the basics of the program, interacted with sports stadium owners and managers, how the program enables industry of all kinds to save energy, and how a voluntary program fits seamlessly into an agency that is otherwise regulatory.

After my time at EPA, I joined D&R International in Silver Spring, Maryland as a Project Associate in early 2009. After a few months of training, I became a subject matter expert on the brand new ENERGY STAR water heater program for the Department of Energy (DOE). Our clients at the DOE gave me the opportunity to write articles for 'green' publications and a solid footing in the energy efficiency industry.

Last December, I took a wonderful opportunity to work as a consultant at ICF in Washington. On a daily basis, I review consumer electronics before they earn the ENERGY STAR, assist in creating new specifications for appliances, and research new products that may be added to the ENERGY STAR product portfolio. With the guidance of experts at EPA and ICF, I'm currently helping to develop ENERGY STAR criteria for advanced Climate Controls that will allow a homeowner to control their home's energy use from their mobile phone.

Marissa Magura

As an intern, I created and implemented a 'green' plan to make Woodlands Wildlife Refuge as environmentally efficient and friendly as possible. After evaluating current products they used, I compared them to different environmentally friendly products to figure out which products would be most cost-effective, useful, and environmentally friendly.

In addition, I assessed their energy bills and usage, and contacted local solar companies to determine if solar paneling would be appropriate for the Refuge. I also instituted a recycling program and other small projects that would benefit the Refuge. It was a great experience to work beside wildlife and make their temporary home friendlier for the environment.

My future plans may include working in the environmental field to make companies more environmentally friendly or working with environmental research. This internship has offered me an opportunity to be more aware of what environmental products are out there and how to implement them in companies, while making a positive mark on the environment.

The Center for Career Development helped me prepare for this internship. I attended resume workshops and received excellent help in preparing my resume and cover letter. Attending the interview workshop also showed me how to prepare and practice for the interview. Through the Career Center, I also gained experience in a program called How Green Is My Town, which educated me on the current environmental methods being used in the field.

THINKING ABOUT STUDYING ABROAD?

Studying abroad is an experience of a life time! It will enable you to gain experience and insights into another culture and see the world from a different perspective. Not to mention, you may have the opportunity to learn another language. Living and studying abroad is a unique opportunity and now is the best time in your life to go abroad. You will undergo tremendous personal and intellectual growth impossible to achieve by staying in your home campus. Additionally, employers highly value effective cross-cultural communications skills and critical thinking in prospective employees. An international experience is sure to enhance your résumé. Spending time abroad does require a considerable commitment—academically, emotionally, and financially. But the return on the investment is well worth it!
