"How to Win Grants from Private Foundations" from the Chronicle of Philanthropy.

One of the most significant challenges facing the nonprofit sector is building and sustaining diverse organizations at every level. According to The Voice of Nonprofit Talent, "The nonprofit sector's collective ability to attract, retain, and advance people of color determines the quality of talent and directly impacts our ability to meet our respective missions." This LeadTime offers articles, resources and innovative strategies to help nonprofit organizations build and sustain diversity among, staff, leadership and boards.

Diversity in the Workplace

The common belief across the nonprofit sector is that racial diversity is a key component of organizational health, performance, and outcomes. Yet, according to the recent Voice of Nonprofit Talent national study, nonprofit organizations are not doing enough to attract and retain professionals of color. There is a perceived gap between the intentions and actions of nonprofit organizations when it comes to promoting staff diversity.

The Inclusive Nonprofit Boardroom

According to BoardSource, after many years, the lack of board diversity still remains a critical issue for nonprofit boards. While diversity has many aspects, including individual differences along dimensions such as education or training, personality or style, this article focuses primarily on diversity based on dimensions such as culture, ethnicity, race, age, sexual orientation, and gender. This article in a 2012 issue of the Nonprofit Quarterly looks at the lack of diversity in the nonprofit boardroom, a concern for many nonprofits.

Eight Key Areas of Nonprofit Excellence

NPCC, The New York Community Trust, and Philanthropy New York are pleased to announce the six finalists for the 2015 New York Community Trust Nonprofit Excellence Awards. Three winners will be honored at an awards presentation and Best Practices Workshop on November 18th. In 2015 as in previous years, Center Director, Ann Marie Thigpen, served as a member of the selection committee. After reviewing applications and selecting awardees, the committee outlined Eight Key Areas of Nonprofit Excellence. The document offers valuable insights on how to recruit, motivate and manage a strong staff and board of directors, raise money, communicate the organization's "story", be culturally competent, manage new information technology, and demonstrate transparency, effectiveness and accountability to donors and the public.

Leading in Community (LIC)

The Center for Nonprofit Leadership recognizes that the leaders of color serving in Long Island's underserved communities face obstacles that are common among leaders in low to moderate income communities throughout the United States. To help address the problem, the Center initiated LIC, a leadership development program to broaden and strengthen the leadership pipeline for people of color and prepare them for nonprofit and community leadership on Long Island. In September we started our second cohort of 17 participants from organizations and communities in Nassau and Suffolk County.

More About Us

Is your Long Island nonprofit organization looking for candidates to serve on the boards? Check out the Center's free board recruitment and matching service, Get on Board. The service connects nonprofit boards with individuals seeking an opportunity to serve. This year the Center connected potential board members to organizations such as the Child Care Council of Nassau, STRONG Youth and Tender Touch for All, to name a few. The newest connection is Andrew Persaud, who has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the Heckscher Museum of Art. Congratulations!
