

Written Notification

This notification explains the rights, options, and resources for those involved in a sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and/or stalking incident.

Written Notification

If you or someone you know has experienced dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and/or stalking, Adelphi University is here to help. You have the right to live, learn, and/or work in a safe and welcoming environment. Violence is unacceptable, and University policy prohibits acts of violence including (but not limited to) sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. This document outlines steps to take depending on what services you want or need.

Unsure of where to start?

Do you need medical attention?

You can receive medical attention at any medical facility; however, certain facilities have specially trained staff to help survivors of sexual assault. The following locations have sexual assault nurse examiners.

Cooperating Hospitals with a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE):

Nassau University Medical Center*
2201 Hempstead Turnpike,
East Meadow, NY, 11554

North Shore University Hospital Northwell Health
300 Community Drive,
Manhasset, NY, 11030

*NUMC is preferred for incidents involving minors.

It is important to preserve evidence that may be useful in obtaining a protection order or in proceeding with a criminal investigation should you choose to do so. Completing a forensic exam does not require you to file a police report or report to the institution, although we encourage these reports if you are comfortable doing so.

Medical exams can also address other physical needs or trauma and assess for sexually transmitted infections or pregnancy. If possible, please do not bathe, douche, smoke, use the toilet or clean the location where the incident occurred. Save items you were wearing, sheets, or towels in a paper bag. Text messages, records of phone calls, emails, pictures, notes, and gifts can all be pertinent for a report of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence or stalking.

Your immediate and long-term safety is what is most important. The resources and options outlined below may be helpful as you decide what next steps are a good fit for you.

Emotional and Physical Impact

Emotions are to be expected.

Dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking are significant and can be traumatizing. Though each person's experience is unique, there are a wide range of emotions that may be felt over the days, weeks, months and even years following a traumatic experience. These reactions may change over time and it may be helpful to address them with the assistance of a trained counselor or therapist, victim/survivor advocate or even a trusted friend or family member.

Possible physical effects may include:

- Pain and soreness
- Injuries, Nausea
- Vomiting
- Headaches
- Panic attacks
- Sleep pattern disturbances
- Insomnia or sleeping more than usual
- Loss of appetite or change in eating habits (overeating or under-eating, etc.)

Possible psychological and/or emotional effects may include:

- Impaired memory
- Shock, Denial
- Irritability and anger
- Sadness and grief
- Social withdrawal
- Apathy (detachment, loss of caring)
- Hypervigilance (always on guard)
- Sleep disturbance (including nightmares)
- Flashbacks
- Difficulty concentrating
- Loss of trust in self or others
- Guilt, shame or embarrassment
- Thoughts of suicide or death
- Diminished interest in activities or sex
- Increased interest in sexual activity

Please note that what law enforcement agency to report to can vary depending on the specifics of your case, but we can help you figure out where to go and will assist you in reporting to law enforcement.

Many survivors find law enforcement to be a great resource. Others choose not to report to law enforcement. We always encourage reporting, but know that only you can determine if doing so is the right decision for you.

Regardless of whether or not you report to the police, there are campus options, including resolution through the University process, available to you.

Requesting Supportive Measures

Regardless of whether you choose to report to local police or public safety, there are specific options available to you, if requested and reasonably available. These options include living modifications, academic adjustments, transportation assistance, working modifications and additional protective measures, including an institutional “no contact” order. For more information on how to obtain these measures, contact the Title IX Office at 516.877.4819.

Order of Protection for Family, Criminal, & Supreme Court

You can also access orders of protection within our state through Family, Criminal, and/or Supreme Court systems. Adelphi University complies with all Court Order of Protections.

You can also obtain a "No Contact Order" through the University. Depending on the nature of the incident, Adelphi University may issue a no contact order to prevent contact between two individuals. To request a no contact order, please contact the Title IX Office, Levermore Hall-Rm 207 at 516.877.4819.

Adelphi University Department of Public Safety and Transportation can assist you in obtaining an order of protection.

To obtain a Family Court order of protection you need to file a form called a "Family Offense petition". The form requires the petitioner to list the reasons for the order, which can include: disorderly conduct, harassment, aggravated harassment, criminal mischief, sexual abuse, strangulation, menacing, reckless endangerment, sexual misconduct, stalking, and forcible touching.

A criminal court order of protection can only be issued against a person who has been charged with a crime. The judge decides whether to issue the order of protection for the survivor or complaining witness and what terms and conditions will be included in the order.

A Supreme Court order of protection can be issued as part of an ongoing divorce proceeding. During an ongoing divorce case you can submit a written or make an oral request at a court appearance. The judge decides whether to issue the order of protection and what terms and conditions will be included in the order.

Campus Disciplinary Process: Rights and Options

You have the right to:

- A prompt, fair, and impartial process from the initial investigation to the final result (completed within the timeframes laid out by our policy in a manner that is transparent, provides timely notice of meetings and equal access to information to both the complainant and the respondent, and conducted by officials without a conflict of interest or bias for either party that receive annual training on how to conduct an investigation and hearing process that protects the safety of victims and promotes accountability)
- Have others present during any institutional disciplinary proceeding, including the opportunity to be accompanied to any related meeting or proceeding by an advisor of your choice*
- Notification, in writing, to the complainant and respondent of:
 - The result of any institutional disciplinary proceeding from your report of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking
 - The institution's procedures to appeal the results [only if such procedures are available]
 - Any change to the results
 - When the results become final

*Also afforded to the respondent

Reporting and Rights and Options

There is no time limit on when a complaint may be made. Once an incident is reported to Title IX or reporting employee [private and confidential], written information is provided about on- and off-campus resources, reporting options, and rights. Any individual (whether or not the person reporting is the person alleged to be the victim/survivor of conduct that could constitute Title IX sex-based harassment) who believes that they are a victim/survivor of a sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking is encouraged to report these incidents to Public Safety, Title IX Office (at any time, including non-business hours), the police, or any campus authority, including Resident Assistants, Faculty, Deans or Administrators.

Report of Title IX sexual misconduct may be made using the following options

- Office of Title IX: 516.877.4819; Levermore Hall 207, titleix@adelphi.edu
- Department of Public Safety: 516.877.3511; Levermore Hall, 1st Floor, Suite 113 (Open 24/7/365)
- You may also report online to: adelphi.edu/title-ix/reporting-harassment/*

*You may choose to file this complaint form anonymously. This form will be received and reviewed by the Title IX Office or Senior Human Resources Partner. The University will comply with all federal, state and local mandates regarding the reporting of crimes to appropriate authorities.

To File a complaint involving the Title IX Coordinator

- Direct complaint to the Office of Human Resources (humanresources@adelphi.edu, 516.877.3220)

Reports to Outside Law Enforcement

- Any party may contact local law enforcement or the State Police directly, whether or not a complaint has been filed with the University; parties may also decline to notify law enforcement. If requested, the University will provide assistance in making this contact.

Confidentiality will be maintained to the extent required by law and to the extent possible given the University's obligations under law and under this Policy. At the beginning of the process, the University will inform the complainant about confidentiality standards and privacy concerns, as well as confidential and other resources available.

There are two types of disciplinary proceedings for the University in regards to sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking for students and employees.

Title IX Sexual Harassment Matters	Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Matters
Allegations meeting federal Title IX statutory definitions under 34 C.F.R. § 106.30 (quid pro quo by an employee, severe/pervasive/ objectively offensive unwelcome conduct, or VAWA offenses including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking) occurring within an Adelphi education program or activity in the United States	Prohibited sexual misconduct, sexual exploitation, or retaliation falling outside federal Title IX statutory jurisdiction

Outreach and Evaluation of Report(s)

Once a report of prohibited conduct is made, it is referred to the Title IX Coordinator, who will promptly conduct an initial assessment to determine if the allegations fall under Title IX jurisdiction and its grievance process. During this initial stage, the Title IX Coordinator will contact the complainant in writing to:

1. Explain rights and options, which include notifying law enforcement (with or without assistance), declining to report, or seeking confidential services.
2. Explain the process for filing a formal complaint.
3. Discuss preferences for how they would like the issue resolved.
4. Offer supportive measures and provide information on informal resolutions, grievance procedures, and related resources.

Select Next Steps

Supportive Response Only	Selected if the complainant prefers only a supportive response and not to proceed forward with a complaint or formal complaint to initiate the University's procedures. The response can include implementation of supportive or protective measures.
Formal Grievance Process	When a complaint is not otherwise withdrawn, dismissed or resolved through an informal resolution, the University will conduct a fair, prompt and impartial investigation and determination through the Formal Grievance Process.
Informal Resolution	A voluntary alternative to the Formal Grievance Procedure for addressing complaints of sexual misconduct and/or other prohibited misconduct, aiming for a mutually acceptable solution without completing a full investigation and hearing. It can take various forms based on the parties' needs, with both parties required to consent and able to withdraw at any time before finalizing an agreement. The Title IX Coordinator informs the parties of the allegations, rights, and potential outcomes and serves as an impartial facilitator, distinct from investigative roles, and will guide the process.
Dismissal of Complaint(s)	The University may dismiss a complaint if it cannot identify the respondent despite reasonable efforts, if the respondent is not part of its programs, if the complainant voluntarily withdraws allegations, or if the conduct alleged wouldn't constitute violations of policy even if proven. Upon dismissal, the University will notify the complainant and any notified parties, inform them of the right to appeal, provide supportive measures, and ensure that prohibited conduct does not continue.

Supportive and Protective Measures and Accommodations

Supportive measures are non-disciplinary and non-punitive individualized services offered to ensure equal access to the University's educational programs, protect safety, and deter prohibited conduct, all without imposing an unreasonable burden on either party.

- Who is eligible: Supportive measures are available for the Complainant, Respondent, reporting individuals, and all third-party witnesses when the University becomes aware of allegations, regardless of whether a formal investigation or informal resolution is pursued. The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for coordinating and effectively implementing these measures, which can be interim or ongoing.
- Examples of Supportive Measures: These measures may include but are not limited to [this is not an exhaustive list]:
 - Providing campus escort services;
 - Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments;
 - Changes to work, academic, housing, living, transportation, or other applicable situations including changes in residence hall assignments or office locations;
 - Referral to counseling, medical and/or other healthcare services;
 - Training and education programs related to sex-based harassment;
 - Establishing restrictions on contact between the parties;
 - Providing increased security or monitoring of certain areas of the campus;
 - Other similar measures or any other actions deemed appropriate by the Title IX Coordinator.
- Privacy: Supportive measures are private and the University will not disclose information about any supportive measures to persons other than the person to whom they apply, unless necessary to effectively implement the supportive measure.
- Modifications of Measures: If you believe that the supportive or interim protective measures provided to you are unsuitable, you have the right to request a modification or reversal of that decision. Submit a written request to the Title IX Coordinator within five (5) days of the decision or a significant change in circumstances, including any supporting evidence. The Title IX Coordinator will review the request and may modify the original decision if deemed unreasonable or inconsistent with this Policy. You will receive written notification of the decision within seven (7) days of your request.

Students and Employees with Disabilities: The University will provide reasonable accommodations for students and employees involved in any processes within this Policy, per University policies implemented by the Student Access Office. Individuals seeking accommodations should notify the Title IX Coordinator, who will consult with the Student Access Office for students or the Office of Human Resources for employee

Standard of Evidence

The standard of evidence for all determinations and findings is the preponderance of the evidence. The preponderance of the evidence means such evidence (testimonials; documents (emails, screenshots, etc.); photos; physical evidence; etc) that, when considered and compared with that opposed to it, is more convincing, creating the belief that what is sought to be shown is more likely than not to have occurred. This means that it is more likely than not that a violation of this Policy occurred. The respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct until a determination is made. The burden of proof rests on the University, not the parties.

Right to an Advisor

Both the complainant and the accused have the same opportunity to be accompanied by support persons of their choice to any University disciplinary proceeding, meeting, interview, or hearing.

The University will take steps to ensure that answers to climate surveys remain anonymous and that no individual is identified. Information discovered or produced as a result of the climate survey will not be subject to discovery or admitted into evidence in any federal or state court proceeding or considered for other purposes in any action for damages brought by a private party against the University, unless, in the discretion of the court, any such information is deemed to be material to the underlying claim or defense.
