

Fall 2016

DAY RESIDUE

DERNER INSTITUTE NEWSLETTER

Masochism Revisited

Nancy McWilliams on Self-Defeating Patterns

How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love
the Adelphi IRB

"I remember when..."
Starring Professor Jerry Gold

A Growing Alumni Association
How to Get Involved

Student and Faculty
Accomplishments

Call for Papers

Inside This Issue

How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Adelphi IRB (at right)

A Growing Alumni Association: How to Get Involved (p. 5)

Masochism Revisited: Nancy McWilliams on Self-Defeating Patterns (p. 6)

"I remember when..." Starring Professor Jerry Gold (p. 8)

Advocacy at Derner (p. 9)

Faculty Spotlight: Joy McClure, Taking Social Research Out of the Lab and Into Our Relationships (p. 11)

Alumni Pride: Contribute to Derner's Alumni Collection! (p. 12)

What Am I Getting Myself Into?: Reflections on Surviving Derner (p. 14)

Internship Placements 2016-2017 (p. 15)

Student and Faculty Accomplishments (p. 16)

Call for Papers (p. 28)

Contact Us (p. 30)

Summer Book Picks from the Editors (p. 30)

How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Adelphi IRB

By Jessica Diller Kovler, 2nd Year

David Prottas is an Associate Professor and Vice President of Grievances for Adelphi University. He also happens to be wrapping up his last term as head of the IRB. Before bidding Dr. Prottas adieu, we sat down with him to get the nitty-gritty on the Adelphi IRB.

The following interview was edited and condensed.

JDK: You had an incredibly successful career in finance... What made you get into academia?

DP: Well, I wouldn't say I was tremendously successful, but I liked what I did. I was a banker. I was on the deals side. We're all deal junkies, and I was on the deals side. After several years of chasing the deal, the high wasn't high — and it wasn't lasting as long. I said to myself, "I like what I'm doing now. But will I like it five or seven years from now? No, I won't. What then?"

JDK: Ok, so what then?

DP: When I was working on my MBA, there was a faculty member who worked in the industry, then went back for his MBA, and then continued his education and ended up a full professor. He was happy and dedicated to his new — but related — type of work. I figured, “If he could do something like that, so can I.”

JDK: Now that you made the professional transition, having gone back to graduate school for a Ph.D. in business and made your way to Garden City, let’s talk about your role here with the IRB... For starters, why did you choose to serve the IRB, relative to other options?

DP: It’s easy. There was [a well-known professor whose methods were questioned] and his story hit newspapers the year I entered my doctoral program. That showed me that all researchers could use a second or third pair of eyes on their research.

JDK: I appreciate the need for a second or third pair of eyes. I’m sure that joining the IRB was not a fast-track to making friends in the university community...

DP: Understandably, people can get upset with the

IRB. (“How dare anyone second-guess me? I have extra knowledge.”)

But the truth is that we all have cognitive biases; it makes it hard for people to properly and consistently evaluate themselves.

We humans are not good at that, especially when we know how bright and well-intentioned we are.

One of the reasons I got involved was that I found it interesting to see what other people — students and faculty — are doing on campus. There’s not a tremendous degree of interaction between schools. The IRB brings together folks from every part of campus.

JDK: When you reject an IRB proposal, is it like Trump saying, “You’re fired!”? At least that’s how many folks feel when your office sends its rejection notices.

DP: Each application is examined in its entirety: methodology, questionnaire, setting, inclusion criteria, issues with coercion, where it takes place, and if harm takes place what effective remediation can be done.

The person submitting the IRB proposal can certainly feel rejected, but that's not the goal — nor the sentiment we wish to imbue. So not so much a rejection issue — faculty get it, students don't always. Their responsibility is to understand their research enough so that they understand their work with humans, and that they've thought actively about this in their research design or remediation attempts.

JDK: Is there anything about applications from Derner that makes us unique in terms of IRB submissions?

DP: Derner is pretty much the only program, with rare exception, that uses experimental design. We have a lot of people doing survey-based quantitative research throughout the university (like the schools of Nursing & Social Work). Units like exercise science and communication disorders that do physical stuff.

JDK: Could you speak a bit to the streamlined “exemption” status?

DP: The past year, we've changed our practices for classifying things as exempt. At this stage, a bit over half of the applications from Derner folk are classified as exempt. One of the things we've been trying to do is streamline the process a bit for efficiency's sake.

JDK: However, isn't there a lot that's not exempt? I heard that the IRB has concerns about Internet research.

DP: Clearly, people want to use it. It's cheaper than paper/pencil, theoretically opens up [research] to the entire world of participants (there's even Amazon Turk, where one can pay for participants). And finding in-person participants is horribly difficult and painful. I think the tensions come from what the researchers want to ask people. These are potentially sensitive and disturbing questions for these people. We don't care particularly if you're doing this on paper/pencil or online, but gosh — we think it's really important that you know that the person can obtain mental health assistance...and that you can facilitate it. Yes, there's friction.

JDK: Would you say that methodology and graduate-level research are your biggest concern as head of the IRB?

DP: It comes down to the human subjects. Look at a questionnaire, for example. If you have five measures, and five sets of questions being asked at the same time, what's the impact on the person? Is it relevant?

We see submissions where people remark on a particular instrument in isolation and say, “it's no undue stress,” but what about when we are using five different instruments during the same moment of data collection? What might be the cumulative impact?

JDK: When you were working on your Ph.D. dissertation in business what challenges did you face in conceptualizing your study?

DP: My study went through the IRB without a problem.

Please note that no human subjects were compromised at any time during this interview.*

A Growing Alumni Association How to Get Involved

By Carolida Steiner (Ph.D. '77), Chairperson, Derner Ph.D. Alumni Chapter

Your alumni association got off the ground in 2014. Its goals are to help you connect with Adelphi, with Derner, and with one another; to help you professionally through networking; and to raise money for scholarships and other worthwhile purposes. The association is formally known as the Derner Ph.D. Alumni Chapter (D-PAC). Its successes depend on alumni who donate their time and talent.

Here are examples of alumni who have stepped up: Allison Rothman and Amy Vigliotti coordinated 10th Year Parties in 2014 and 2015, respectively. Jessica Shimberg is coordinating the 2016 10th Year Party.

The Derner Institute has been training psychologists for over 50 years. Alumni who started the program before 2004 have also taken time out of busy schedules to reconnect with their classmates. So far, there have been three Class Reunions — one coordinated by Gwen and Steven Alter, one by Sherry Breslau, and one by Debbie Ramirez.

Most alumni are still in the New York metro area. About a third are out-of-state or in other countries. The alumni association is looking for ways to involve friends and colleagues who cannot attend New York events. In that spirit, Tanya Cotler, herself a resident of Toronto, coordinated an alumni brunch at the 2015 APA National Convention.

Alternatively, you could become a Class Representative. Kathy Bacon Greenberg and this writer are both Class Reps. It simply involves locating classmates, those who are still friends, and those with whom one has lost touch.

Are you interested in volunteering? Would you like to coordinate a Class Reunion, 10th Year Party, or another event? Do you want to be a Class Rep? Or how about a greeter at a Lindemann Lecture or other event? Can you help grow the Derner Alumni Collection? If so, please contact Carolida at drcarol26@msn.com.

Pictured above: Gordon Derner Advisory Board Meeting, October 5th, 2016. From left to right: Drs. Anita D'Amico, Sam Weisman, Marjorie Hill, Jairo Fuertes, Bob Mendelsohn, Jacques Barber, Chris Muran, Carolida Steiner, Alex Levi, and Grace Pilcer.

Masochism Revisited

Nancy McWilliams on Self-Defeating Patterns

By Laura DeRubeis-Byrne, 3rd Year

Nancy McWilliams' body of work has made her one of the greatest assets to the psychoanalytic community. This past April Derner students, faculty, and alumni had the opportunity to hear her speak and engage in a Q&A session.

Nancy McWilliams, Ph.D., began her talk by stating that as a mental health community we have lost a sense of how powerful it is to understand the personalities of our patients: "Current psychotherapists are frustrated that this knowledge has not been acknowledged from other veins of the medical community." She made it clear that her mission is to promote appreciation for personality factors in mental health treatment.

McWilliams reminded us about a shift in psychotherapy: "There was a time when psychotherapists saw themselves as healers, when being a psychotherapist was seen as a healing relationship, and now we are being put under pressure to become technicians, which is wreaking havoc on our self-esteem and identity." She also remarked, "I do not know any therapists that argue that therapy should not be based on research; however, being based on research is different from being like research, and therapists are under pressure to have therapy be like research." She urged that personality and relationship issues should be emphasized in psychotherapy.

McWilliams continued by stating that personality ought to be understood dimensionally and said conceptualizing personality by traits does not capture the entirety of the patient. She called for attunement to internalized object relations, or relational patterns, and described the variations in personality organizations, such as the difference between a schizoid person and narcissistic person, to be based on “separate preoccupations.”

Regarding the requirement of a diagnosis in order for treatment to be covered by insurance, McWilliams spoke about how we are “with the best of intentions ... pathologizing normal life functions” of grief and sadness. She reminded the audience of an arbitrary decision in 1980 to eliminate depressive and self-defeating personality disorders from the DSM for the purposes of research. Additionally, feminists fought to remove self-defeating personality disorder, as they believed it would be misinterpreted to imply victims wanted to be abused. However, the Psychodynamic Diagnostic Manual (PDM) includes depressive and self-defeating personality.

McWilliams highlighted the overlap of depressive and masochistic cognitions and said that, in both, “attachment is predicated on suffering.” Masochistic and depressive defenses include: introjection, turning against the self, idealization of others, and identification with the aggressor.

When working with a masochistic patient, McWilliams advised reducing idealization by helping the patient verbalize their identification with the aggressor so that they can talk about their self-attacks, which then helps them to soften their self-criticism as they grow in insight and internalize the empathic function of the therapist.

McWilliams concluded by sharing a video of her working with a self-defeating, depressive patient characterized by relational and moral masochism. The video gave budding doctoral students and veteran clinicians alike the opportunity to observe many of the themes she had previously discussed. After the video, McWilliams made time for questions and discussion.

“I remember when...” Starring Professor Jerry Gold

Jerry Gold has been at Adelphi for 17 years as a full-time faculty member. Aside from his important contributions to the field of clinical psychology, i.e. his A Casebook of Psychotherapy Integration, he also has some entertaining memories to share.

...I was a first year student; Gordon [Derner] was very much with us. Gordon had a history of having Christmas parties at his home. He'd have the whole institute over to his home. He lived not far from campus.

So, a group of us were sitting around the table, having a drink of “GLOG” (wine punch — very potent!) and we put down our glasses and we watched our glasses walk away from us. As psychologists, we produced hypotheses:

- We were on hallucinogenic drugs.
- Gordon had animals all over his home. Didn't the table look a bit like a reptile?
- The land tortoise had served as a coffee table. That was it.

Gordon was colorful, the likeness of which hasn't been seen since he left us so early.

I remember a whole different time here at Derner. I remember doing my dissertation and having to enter all my statistics on punch cards on the one computer on campus. I remember having my dissertation typed and having it re-typed after orals, having to pay someone $1 a page to get it typed.

There were no laptops and no PCs — they were main frames that didn't have terminals.

I remember the institute being on the top floor of what used to be called the business building. There'd be parties up there with live bands. I remember playing with those bands as a student and young faculty member in the 80's. Where the Starbucks is? That used to be a pub. When the drinking age was 18, faculty and students would gather and talk over a pint. There was a real sense of cohesiveness on campus and people lived close-by — I remember when there was no problem getting a parking space on campus.

Advocacy at Derner

Derner Advocacy Committee

By Mary Minges, 3rd Year

Mary Minges is the current campus representative for the Advocacy Coordinating Team (ACT) of the APA Graduate Student organization (APAGS) and a member of the Derner Advocacy Committee.

Did you know that Derner has an active Advocacy Committee, which grew out of an informational meeting about the APA Graduate Student organization (APAGS) and the Advocacy Coordinating Team (ACT)?

APAGS is the “voice of student concerns within the APA,” founded in 1988 and currently represents about one third of APA membership. Go to www.apa.org/apags/about/index.aspx to find out more about what resources are available to graduate students through this organization.

A branch of APAGS is ACT. The mission of ACT is to “empower students to bring their voices to bear on the important issues affecting our discipline and the public health through education, training and advocacy.” As students, you will be receiving emails throughout the year informing you of meetings about APAGS and ACT, and various informational and action alerts pertinent to psychologists and psychologists in training. Examples of areas of advocacy for which ACT has active committees are: Aging, Community Health Centers, and Criminal and

Juvenile Justice Issues. (For a comprehensive list of APA Advocacy Issues please visit: www.apa.org/about/gr/issues/index.aspx.)

The Derner Advocacy Committee developed when several students met to discuss issues of concern to them. Graduate funding came up as a topic, but so did the Hoffman Report. The Hoffman Report was a private investigation into the role that the APA played in Department of Defense (DoD) interrogations at Guantanamo Bay. The committee found this an important issue to explore and educate graduate students about — as to this day, implications from that report are still unfolding and the governing body of APA is still struggling to determine what ethical guidelines APA will uphold in relation to working with the DoD. The Advocacy Committee organized a full day event on the Hoffman Report, which can be viewed here: www.youtube.com/channel/UCAcxwBOHbpN-SypFM9fWJ3w

The Derner Advocacy Committee will continue this year, and two events are on the horizon. One is to raise awareness of how to advocate for minorities caught in the poverty-to-incarceration pipeline. The second is an idea to partner with the Society for Psychotherapy Research, North American Chapter for an education day for graduate students and local clinicians on psychotherapy research.

If you are interested in these or other advocacy projects, please come to the APAGS/ACT informational meeting and/or the Fall Derner Advocacy Committee meeting. We would love to have you join our efforts in advocacy.

Current and past members include: Anna Gurgenidze, Laura Shiffrin, Dennis Higgins, Erica Tanne, Mary Minges, and Moshe Moeller.

Derner Joins in Campus-Wide Celebration of LGBTQI Diversity

By Nicole Belletti, 1st Year

On October 11th, Derner students participated in a Diversity Committee event to show support for the LGBTQI community on National Coming Out Day. Faculty adjusted their teaching schedules to allow students to take a photo together, and some faculty joined in for the photo.

Faculty Spotlight: Joy McClure Taking Social Research Out of the Lab and Into Our Relationships

By Lauren Moy, 4th Year

Fourth-year Lauren Moy sat down with Derner social psychologist Joy McClure, Ph.D., to discuss relationship research.

The following interview was edited and condensed.

LM: Can you speak about how you ended up at Derner?

JM: I did my Ph.D. in Canada at McGill University. Then, I was lucky enough to set up a post-doc working with Niall Bolger at Columbia University and Pat Shrout at NYU, experts in intensive longitudinal designs and statistical methods that are important for studying interpersonal relationships. When the opportunity to work at Derner came up, I was really excited. It would let me stay in New York where I could continue to collaborate with researchers at Columbia and NYU.

When relationship researchers talk, we often say that learning about people's relationships and social functioning is important because it can help improve lives. But we don't often put our money where our mouth is. There's a lot of basic research in social psychology and it's only recently that we started doing interventionist or translational research. So the idea of getting to work with and participate in the training of clinical psychologists was exciting because it was an opportunity to take the research out of the lab and use it to help people.

LM: Tell us about your research interests...

JM: The theme underlying a lot of my research is the fundamental psychological need to belong. And, in particular, how we reconcile that motive, with a similarly fundamental desire to protect the self. So on the one hand, connecting with other people is something that we all want, but on the other hand, making those connections involves putting yourself out there, making yourself vulnerable. What if that person you asked on a date, says no? What if you come home from a really hard day and open up to your spouse and they don't respond with the sort of care that you were expecting? So we can experience an ambivalence between wanting to connect with others and wanting to protect the self, either, chronically, associated with things like attachment anxiety, or contextually, associated with things like dating, new relationships, or social support in established relationships.

LM: How do you view the connection between social and clinical psychology?

JM: I joke to the undergraduates that all of psychology is social psychology. Obviously I'm a bit biased, but when you think about the basic definition of social psychology, it is the study of how our thoughts, feelings, and behaviors are affected by the presence — actual, imagined, or implied — of other people. Literally all of a person's day-to-day life. We interact and carry people around in our heads; we react to the implied presence of others in the environment, even if they're not there. Clinical psychology has a lot of really important points of intersection. You have to consider an individual in their social and interpersonal context. Clinical issues might arise out of interpersonal issues. When the person leaves your office, they're going back out into their social context. The therapeutic interaction is a social interaction.

LM: How is it for you, a social psychologist, to teach in the clinical program?

JM: One of the fun things about teaching in the clinical program is that the students inspire me and I can learn from them. For example, learning more about therapeutic alliance struck me as being very consistent with some things that social psychologists see as being particularly useful in terms of social support. De-emphasis of the role relationship, i.e. reducing the "I'm the support provider and you're the support recipient" has been shown to be effective in social support contexts. It's also interesting to think about other potential intersections of social and clinical. I learned recently from a student that people with ADHD are known to have relationship issues. A lot of relationship maintenance, as it's been studied in social psychology is pinned on executive function (e.g. the ability to regulate initial selfish or self-protective responses to partner misbehavior, or to devalue attractive alternatives). I think it would be interesting to try and replicate some of the classic studies on relationship maintenance with that in mind.

LM: I gather that you see a lot of potential for research in connecting social and clinical concepts...

JM: One area in which I see both fields starting to grow, which I think is going to be really exciting, is in the direction of diversity. We are becoming more cognizant of how what we know has been studied in relatively restricted populations. For example, a lot classic relationship research has been conducted with relatively high SES, well-educated, white, heterosexual couples. The processes that help or hurt their relationships may not generalize to other groups. And, indeed, some of the initial research in this area is starting to find important differences. If we're trying to help people, we need to understand their social context, in all its diversity.

Alumni Pride: Contribute to Derner's Alumni Collection

By Carolida Steiner (Ph.D. '77), Chairperson, Derner Ph.D. Alumni Chapter

I began the doctoral program back in 1972, and in the years following graduation in 1977, I always thought of myself as "an Adelphi person." A few years ago, following a long absence, I reconnected with Derner and reignited my alumni pride. One thing led to another, and now I find myself writing the alumni column for Day Residue!

I tried to reconnect with all my classmates, and I ended up speaking to Bill Levin, who mentioned that he had written a book. I felt such joy in his accomplishment. While Bill and his family live in Illinois I couldn't shake the feeling that his book should have a home on campus here in Garden City.

To make a long story short, I dropped in on David Ranzan, Adelphi University's Archivist and Special Collections Librarian. The result of our meeting became the Derner Alumni Collection. This compilation is the newest of more than 40 Special Collections in Adelphi's Swirbul library. Here's how David explains the project:

"The Derner Alumni Collection has been established to showcase the tremendous accomplishments of the alumni of the Derner Institute... As the collection grows, it will serve as a testament to the legacy of Gordon Derner, his philosophy and teaching. It will be a repository of new and groundbreaking scholarship in the field of clinical psychology."

Adelphi maintains a copy of all our doctoral dissertations, but this new collection offers Derner alums a means to alert friends and colleagues to their scholarly achievements since graduation.

Since the collection's launch in September 2015, five donors have contributed over 25 items. Besides William S. Levin (Ph.D. '77), they are Paul Hymowitz, another of my wonderful classmates (Ph.D. '77), Beverly A. Greene (Ph.D. '83), Carol Lindemann Abend (Ph.D. '70) and Marvin Eisenstadt (Ph.D. '64). In recognition of this collective achievement, a special exhibit will be held at Swirbul Library next spring.

Have you written a book, a book chapter, or an article in a peer-reviewed journal? If so, please donate a copy to this collection. If you make the donation by December 31, 2016, it will be included in the special exhibit. For more information please contact Carolida Steiner at drcarol26@msn.com.

What Am I Getting Myself Into?! Reflections on Surviving Derner

By Laura Shiffrin, 4th Year

During my first few years at Derner, every challenge seemed it would be the worst I could face. When I got up from my desk at the end of the first weekend of first year and found that I'd read for 20 hours, I felt trapped in a hell of my own making.

First year: Hundreds (or so it felt) of practice WIATs, the doomsday of the grant proposal... Second year: the growing pains of new patients and supervisors; conference presentations; testing testing testing... As the weeks of first semester, then first year, then second year pass and we hit each new goal post, we learn to prioritize and make peace with our limitations.

Of the many milestones of the four years at Derner, the completion of second year seems particularly meaningful. You're halfway through the on-site program and two years from internship. Of course, this accomplishment opens the door for new dimensions of anxiety. Dissertation proposal, internship applications...and what's a 'portfolio'?

The good news: Third year also brings opportunities for accomplishment and growth. Maybe you've started building long-term relationships with patients at the Adelphi Clinic, and are learning about yourself as a clinician and as a person. You're really working part-time as a therapist at externship, and you finally see the fruits of your John Rorschach labor when you take on testing patients... for money! Your pre-Derner friends are bewildered that you've been entrusted with the mental health of strangers.

And then it's off to internship!

Internship Placements 2016-2017

Congratulations to the 2017 Cohort!

Columbia University Medical Center

North Bronx Healthcare – Jacobi Medical Center

Harvard Medical School/Mass General Hospital, Boston, MA

Maimonides Medical Center

Jewish Child Care Association, Pleasantville, NY

Manhattan Psychiatric Center

Nassau University Medical Center, East Meadow, NY

Mount Sinai Beth Israel Medical Center

New York Harbor VA Medical Center

Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, PA

New York University/Bellevue Hospital Center

St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center

Derner Institute Internship Consortium Sites:

Adelphi University Student Counseling Center

Village Institute for Psychotherapy

Center for Motivation and Change

William Alanson White Institute

SUNY Student Counseling Center, Westbury, NY

Student and Faculty Accomplishments

Student Honors and Awards

~ Lauren Lipner ~ Recipient of the Kenneth Howard Memorial Student Travel Award to attend the 2016 North American Society for Psychotherapy Research Annual Meeting, Berkeley, CA.

~ Alvaro Moreira ~ First Place recipient of the 2016 William Alanson White Institute Psychotherapy Case Presentation Award, New York, NY.

~ Adam Natoli ~ Recipient of grant in support of his study “Does personality functioning moderate implicit – self-attributed test score discontinuities? Elucidating the dynamics of interpersonal dependency,” awarded by the Society for Personality Assessment.

Adam Natoli, 2nd year.

Lauren Lipner, 2nd year.

~ Vanya Radoncic ~ Recipient of the 2016 National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) Travel Award to attend the 124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association, Denver, CO.

~ Zeynep Sahin ~ Recipient of a Travel Award to attend the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

~ Nili Solomonov ~ Recipient of a Travel Award to attend the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

George Striker Fellowship Award

A special congratulations to ~ Nili Solomonov ~ winner of the 2016 George Striker Fellowship for Outstanding Research Achievement and Productivity! Nili is broadly interested in mechanisms of change in psychodynamic therapy, and her second year project investigated the extent of psychotherapy integration in the work of psychotherapy experts.

~ Katie Giuseppone ~ received an honorable mention and second place for her scholarly contributions in the research areas of psychopathology and parent-child relationships.

Student Publications and Presentations

Ardalan, F., Tanis, T., DeRubeis, L., Kim, K., Yaseen, Z., Galynker, I., & Cohen, L. (2016, May). How do anger expressed inward and anger expressed outward differentially relate to depression, impulsivity and suicide risk? Poster presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Atlanta, GA.

Barber, J. P., Gallop, R., Milrod, B., Chambless, D., Solomonov, N., & McCarthy, K. S. (2016, June). Mechanism of change vs. mediators in psychotherapies for panic. In J. P. Barber (Moderator), Mechanisms of change in evidenced-based psychotherapies. Semi-plenary conducted at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Bedi, G., Shiffirin, L., Vadhan, N. P., Nunes, E. V., Foltin, R. W., & Bisaga, A. (2016). Effects of levodopa-carbidopa-entacapone and smoked cocaine on facial affect recognition in cocaine smokers. Journal of Psychopharmacology, 30(4), 370-377.

Bloch-Elkouby, S., Muran, J. C., Gorman, B. S., Safran, J. D., & Eubanks, C. F. (2016, June). Toward a better understanding of psychotherapy outcome assessment: Congruence between instruments, measures of change, and raters. Paper presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Chui, H., & Barber, J. P. (in press). Supportive-expressive therapy. In A. Wenzel (Ed.), Sage encyclopedia of abnormal and clinical psychology. Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage.

Laura DeRubeis-Byrne, 3rd year.

Chui, H., Bloch-Elkouby, S., & Barber, J. P. (in press). Benefits and challenges: A closer look at case studies within trials. In D. B. Fishman, F. M. Dattilio, S. B. Messer, & D. J. A. Edwards (Eds.), Case studies within psychotherapy trials: Expanding the gold standard. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.

Chui, H., Zilcha-Mano, S., Dinger, U., Barrett, M. S., & Barber, J. P. (2016). Dependency and self-criticism in treatments for depression. Journal of Counseling Psychology, 63(4), 452-459.

Deitchman, A., & Bornstein, R. F. (2016, August). Interpersonal dependency and academic self-efficacy. Poster presented at the 124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association, Denver, CO.

DeRubeis-Byrne, L. (2016, April). Posture and its effect on affective state. Poster presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

DeRubeis, L., Kim, K., Ardalan, F., Tanis, T., Galynker, I., & Cohen, L. (2016, May). The relationship between child- hood trauma, impulsivity and suicidality in an inpatient sample. Poster presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Atlanta, GA.

Fink, V., Ardan, F., Tanis, T., DeRubeis, L., Kim, K., Galynker, I., & Cohen, L. (2016, May). Childhood trauma predicts to cluster B personality pathology. Poster presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Atlanta, GA.

Fuertes, J. N., Rubinstein, S., Reyes, M., Iampornpipopchai, P., Mujeeb, S., Smith, C. R., & Toporovsky, A. (2016). The physician-patient working alliance in hemodialysis treatment. Behavioral Medicine, 00-25.

Fuertes, J. N., Toporovsky, A., Reyes, M., & Manzi, A. (2016, June). In-session therapists' countertransference in less successful versus more successful psychotherapy cases. Paper presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Hansen, M., Trotter, A., Power, K., & Wierzbinska, E. (October, 2015). Graduate student roundtable: Psychotherapy and activism. Association for the Psychoanalysis of Culture & Society Annual Conference, New Brunswick, NJ.

Katz, M., Hilsenroth, M. J. (2016, June). And how does that make you feel? Psychodynamic technique related to outcome for depressed patients. Panel presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Katz, M., Hilsenroth, M. J. (2016, January). Is therapist evaluation of social anxiety/avoidance traits associated with patient-reported attachment style? Poster presented at the American Psychoanalytic Association (APsaA) Winter Meeting, Organized by the Psychodynamic Psychotherapy Research Society (PPRS), New York, NY.

Kim, K., DeRubeis, L., Ardan, F., Tanis, T., Galynker, I., & Cohen, L. (2016, May). Self-esteem, impulsivity, and suicidal ideation in mood disordered patients. Poster presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Atlanta, GA.

Kovler, J. D. (2016, January). Psychosocial impact of Cushing's Disease. Lecture presented at the Corcept Endocrinology Conference, Long Beach, CA.

Kuprian, N., Chui, H., & Barber, J. P. (in press). Effective therapists in psychodynamic therapy for depression: What interventions are used and how? In L. G. Castonguay & C. E. Hill (Eds.), Therapist effects: Toward understanding how and why some therapists are better than others. Washington, DC: American Psychological Association Press.

Lipner, L. M., Mendelsohn, R., & Muran, J. C. (in press). Psychoanalysis. In A. E. Wenzel (Ed.), Sage encyclopedia of abnormal and clinical psychology. New York, NY: Sage.

Lipner, L. M., Muran, J. C., Zilcha-Mano, S., Gardner, J., Eubanks, C., & Safran, J. D. (2016, June). Differences in patterns of alliance with patients diagnosed with and without a personality disorder in two time-limited psychotherapies. Poster presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Martinez, S., Jones, J., Comer, S., & Bisaga, A. (2016, June). The effects of nicotine administration and drug cues on im- pulsivity. Talk presented at the College on Problems of Drug Dependence Annual Meeting, Palm Springs, CA.

McGowan, T., Conway, F., McCarthy, J., Waldron, D., & Deptula, L. (2016, March). Assessment of object relation in hospitalized children with ADHD. Poster presented at the Annual Convention of the Society for Personality Assessment, Chicago, IL.

Minges, M., Perry, J. C., Chambless, D., Milrod, B., & Barber, J. P. (2016). Does defensive functioning change in short-term treatment for panic disorder? Poster presented at the Society for the Exploration of Psychotherapy Integration meeting in Dublin, Ireland and the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Moeller, M., Springer, C., & Cinberg, M. (2015, November). Fatherhood in Orthodox Jewish families: A qualitative research study. Poster presented at the Annual Meeting of the National Council on Family Relations, Vancouver, BC, Canada.

Moreira, A. D., Lombardi, K., & Newirth, J. (2016, April). An exploration of the transition process of trans women: Mourning and inscription. Poster session presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

Jacques Barber, Dean, and Mary Minges, 3rd year.

Rachel Small, 4th year, Di Liu, 2nd year, Lauren Knopf, 4th year, Lauren Lipner, 2nd year.

Muran, J. C., Safran, J. D., Eubanks, C., Samstag, L. W., Winston, A., Bloch-Elkouby, S., Gardner, J., Knopf, L., Lipner, L., Liu, D., & Small, R. B. (2015, November). Mount Sinai Beth Israel Psychotherapy Research Program (1990-present). Poster and video display presented at A Celebration of Gordon F. Derner's Life and Legacy, Garden City, NY.

Natoli, A. P., & Bornstein, R. F. (2016, May). Sex differences in self-attributed and implicit dependency: Direction and magnitude of discontinuity. Poster presented at the Annual Convention of the Association for Psychological Science, Chicago, IL. <http://dx.doi.org/10.13140/rg.2.1.1936.4725>

Natoli, A. P., Nelson, S., Lengu, K., & Huprich, S. K. (2016). Sensitivity to criticism differentially mediates the relationship between interpersonal problems and state and trait depression. Personality and Mental Health. Advance online publication. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1002/pmh.1338>

Pitman, S., & Hilsenroth, M. (2016). Interpersonal subtypes of anxiety disorder patients: Relationship to assessment and treatment variables. Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease, 204, 513-518.

Radoncic, V. (2016). Trauma exposure and sex differences in the context of stress reactivity and regular cannabis use. Poster session presented at the 124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association, Denver, CO and to be presented at the International Society for Traumatic Stress Studies Annual Meeting, Dallas, TX.

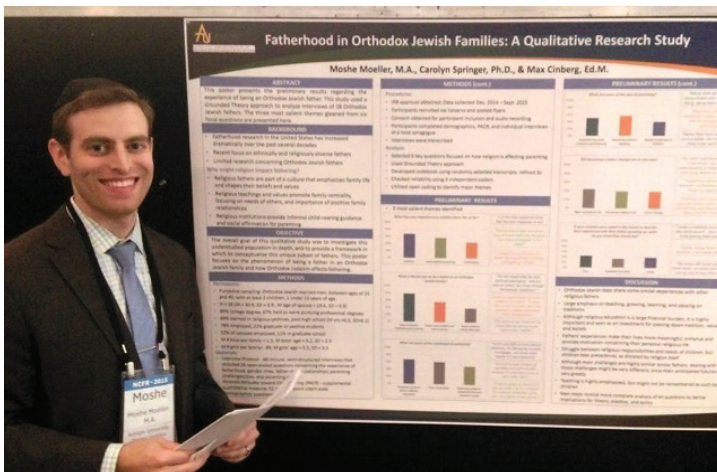

Radoncic, V., Marcoux, B., & Hien, D. A. (in press). Self-management of addiction and substance abuse. In E. Martz (Ed.), Promoting self-management of chronic impairments: Theories and practice. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.

Richardson, S., Newirth, J., & Lombardi, K. (2016, April). Therapist self-disclosure: In-session and coming out. Poster presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

Roh, A., & Chin, J. (2016). Asian American leadership and identity. Poster presentation at the Asian American Psychological Association Convention, Denver, CO.

Sahin, Z., & Barber, J. P. (in press). Termination of treatment. In A. Wenzel (Ed.), Sage encyclopedia of abnormal and clinical psychology. Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage.

Sahin, Z., Vinnars, B., Gorman, B., Wilczek, A., Åsberg, M., & Barber, J. P. (2016, June). Level of functioning as a moderator of outcome in psychodynamic and dialectical behavior therapies for borderline personality disorder. Poster presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Moshe Moeller, 4th year.

Sapountzis, I., Giuseppone K., & Moeller, M. (2015, August). Listening to the fear. Paper presented at the Gunawirra sponsored workshop in Gunedah, Australia.

Shiffirin, L., & Szymanski, K. (2016, March). Personality correlates of posttraumatic stress symptoms in cancer patients. Paper presented at the Annual Convention of the Society for Personality Assessment, Chicago, IL.

Shiffirin, L., & Szymanski, K. (2016, October). The relationship between spirituality and posttraumatic distress in cancer patients. Paper to be presented at Listening to Trauma: Insights and Actions, the Second Washington Conference on Trauma, Washington, DC.

Small, R. B., Muran, J. C., Safran, J. D., & Eubanks, C. (2016, June). The impact of Alliance-Focused Training on therapist self-expression, emotional involvement, and alliance perspective. Poster presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Small, R. B. (2016, April). Hot topics in psychology: All about relationships. Invited speaker on faculty-student panel presented at the Derner Institute's Annual Psychology Day, Garden City, NY.

Smith, S. W., Levy, S. R., Hilsenroth, M. J., Fiori, K. L., & Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Relationship between patient SWAP-200 personality characteristics and therapist-rated alliance early in treatment. Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease, 204(6), 437-444.

Solomonov, N., Gorman, S. B., Chambless, D. L., Milrod, B., Groth, T., & Barber, J. P. (2016, June). A journey towards therapeutic change in treatments of panic disorder: Alliance and use of techniques as predictors of improvement in mechanisms of change. Paper presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Solomonov, N., Kuprian, N., Zilcha-Mano, S., Gorman, B. S., & Barber, J. P. (2016). What do psychotherapy experts actually do in their sessions? An analysis of psychotherapy integration in prototypical demonstrations. Journal of Psychotherapy Integration, 26(2), 202-216.

Szymanski, K., Springer, C., & Zecevic, L. (2016, May). Body awareness - a friend or foe: The impact of somatic awareness on psychological distress in breast cancer patients. Oral presentation at the Canadian Association of Psychosocial Oncology Meeting, Halifax, Canada.

Poster session venue at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Wierzbinska, E., Russo, E., & Athan, A. (2016, August). Examining Predictors of the subjective experience of childbirth. Poster presented at the 124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association, Denver, CO.

Wierzbinska, E. (December, 2015). Review of the film Dark side of the full moon. The Feminist Psychologist, 42(5), 15.

Zilcha-Mano, S., Chui, H., Dolev, T., McCarthy, K. S., Dinger, U., & Barber, J. P. (2016). Changes in causal attributions and relationship representations: Are they specific or common mechanisms in the treatment of depression. Journal of Affective Disorder, 193, 73-80.

Zilcha-Mano, S., Muran, J. C., Hungr, C., Eubanks, C. F., Safran, J. D., & Winston, A. (2016). The relationship between alliance and outcome: Analysis of a two-person perspective on alliance and session outcome. Journal of Consulting & Clinical Psychology, 84(6), 484-96.

Eliza Wierzbinska, 2nd year.

Faculty Honors and Awards

~ Denise Hien ~

Principal Investigator, Derner Hempstead Training Clinic and Outcomes (Co-PI: Jonathan Jackson), FAR Fund, Total Direct and Indirect Costs $153,000. (2016-2019).

Principal Investigator, Translational Research Training in Addictions at City College and Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons (TRACC) (Co-PI's: Frances R. Levin, Robert Melara, Lesia Ruglass, Mauricio Trevisan), National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIH), R25, Total Direct and Indirect Costs $2 Million. (2013-2018).

Co-Investigator, TREND Partnership: Tobacco Research and Education to Eliminate Disparities (PI: Christine Sheffer), National Cancer Institute, P20, Total Direct and Indirect Costs $4.5 Million. (2014-2019).

~ Chris Muran ~

Adjunct Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Mount Sinai School of Medicine.

Program Chair, International Society for Psychotherapy Research.

President, International Society for Psychotherapy Research.

Faculty Publications and Presentations

Barber, J. P. (2016, July). What do we know about the status of psychodynamic therapy in 2016. Invited address at the International Congress of Psychology, Yokohama, Japan.

Barber, J. P. (2016, July). The role of the therapeutic alliance and techniques in psychotherapy: A research update. In S. Iwakabe (Chair), Healing relationship in psychotherapy: Attachment, the alliance and transformation. Symposium conducted at the International Congress of Psychology, Yokohama, Japan Boccio, D. E. (2015). A school-based suicide risk assessment protocol. Journal of Applied School Psychology, 31, 31-62.

Boccio, D. E., & Klose, L. M. (2016, February). Using professional skills to prevent and resist inappropriate administrative pressure. Special session presented at the Annual Convention of the National Association of School Psychologists, New Orleans, LA.

Boccio, D. E., Weisz, G., & Lefkowitz, R. (2016). Administrative pressure to practice unethically and burnout within the profession of school psychology. Psychology in the Schools, 53(6), 649-672.

Boccio, D. E., Weisz, G., Lefkowitz, R., Connolly, J., & Perri, A. (2016, February). Administrative pressure to practice unethically and burnout among school psychologists. Paper presented at the Annual Convention of the National Association of School Psychologists, New Orleans, LA.

Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Freud's psychosexual stage theory of personality. In H. L. Miller (Ed.), Sage encyclopedia of theory in psychology (pp. 338-339). Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage.

Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Interpersonal dependency. In V. Zeigler-Hill & D. K. Marcus (Eds.), The dark side of personality (pp. 341-359). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Bornstein, R. F. (2016, August). On mindfulness, multi-method assessment, and test score integration. Address given at the 124th Annual Convention of the American Psychological Association, Denver, CO.

Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Personality traits and dynamics. In J. C. Norcross, G. R. VandenBos, & D. K. Freedheim (Eds.), APA handbook of clinical psychology, volume III (pp. 81-101). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Toward a firmer foundation for ICD-11: On the conceptualization and assessment of personality pathology. Personality and Mental Health, 10, 123-126.

Bornstein, R. F., & McLeod, B. A. (2016). Beyond biology: Sex, gender, and personality disorders. In V. M. Brabender & J. L. Mihura (Eds.), Handbook of gender and sexuality in psychological assessment (pp. 211-232). New York, NY: Routledge/Taylor & Francis.

Castonguay, L. G., & Muran, J. C. (Eds.). (2016). Practice-oriented research in psychotherapy: Building partnerships between clinicians and researchers. Oxford, United Kingdom: Routledge.

Chapman, S. R., & McClure, M. J. (2016). Autonomy and the bigger picture: Motivation and cognition in romantic relationships. Annual Conference of the Society for Personality and Social Psychology, San Diego, CA.

Cruz, M. D., Predescu, I., Ahmad, M., Paramtmuni, S., Springer, C., & Belizie, L. (2016, May). Prevalence and correlates of pseudobulbar affect symptoms in urban setting nursing home residents with dementia. Poster presentation at the Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Atlanta, GA.

Doran, J., Safran, J. D., & Muran, J. C. (2016). The alliance negotiation scale: A psychometric investigation. Psychological Assessment, 28(8), 885-897.

Fallig, R., McCarthy, K. S., Chambless, D., Milrod, B., & Barber, J. P. (2016, June). Change in patients' expectations in psychotherapy and correlations with therapist interventions. Talk presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Fertuck, E., Tsoi, F., Grinband, J., Ruglass, L. R., Melara, R., & Hien, D. A. (in press, online 27 January 2016). Facial trustworthiness perception elevated in individuals with PTSD compared to trauma exposed controls. Psychiatric Research. DOI:10.1016/j.psychres.2016.01.056

Fiori, K. L., & Huxhold, O. (2015, November). Educational and regional context interact to shape social development across the second half of life. Paper presented at the 2015 Annual Scientific Meeting of the Gerontological Society of America, Orlando, FL.

Fiori, K. L., Rauer, A. J., Birditt, K. S., Brown, E., Jager, J., & Orbuch, T. (2016). Social network typologies of black and white married couples in midlife. Journal of Marriage and Family. DOI: 10.1111/jomf.12330

Gilbert, L., Raj, A., Hien, D. A., Stockman, J., Terlikabayeva, A., & Wyatt, G. (2015). Targeting the SAVA (substance abuse, violence and AIDS) syndemic among women and girls: A global review of epidemiology and integrated interventions. Journal of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndromes, 69(Suppl 2), S118-27. DOI:10.1097/qai.0000000000000626

Hien, D. A. (2016, June). Concurrent treatment with prolonged exposure for co-occurring PTSD and SUD: A randomized clinical trial. In B. Madras & L. Rieb (Chairs), What's hot: CPDD media forum. Symposium presented at the College on Problems of Drug Dependence Annual Meeting, Palm Springs, CA.

Hien, D. A. (2015, November). Does targeting PTSD with combination therapy improve alcohol use outcomes? In T. Ehring (Chair), Innovations in treatments for PTSD and substance use disorders. Symposium presented at the International Society for Traumatic Stress Studies Annual Meeting, New Orleans, LA.

Hien, D. A. (2016, May). Keynote Address, Doctoral Hooding Ceremony, Adelphi University, Garden City, NY.

Hien, D. A. (2015, November). Treatments for PTSD and SUD: Maximizing limits of clinical trials. In J. Flanagan (Chair), Novel treatments for PTSD and SUD. Symposium presented at the 49th Annual Convention of the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies, Chicago, IL.

Hien, D. A. (2016, May). What's new in the pipeline: Advancing treatments for PTSD and substance abuse. Addictions 2016, McLean Hospital Division on Substance Abuse, Harvard Medical School, Department of Continuing Education, Boston, MA.

Hien, D. A., Campbell, A. N., Ruglass, L. M., Saavedra, L., Matthews, A., Kiriakos, G., & Morgan-Lopez, A. (2015). Maximizing effectiveness trials in PTSD and SUD through secondary analyses: The National Institute on Drug Abuse Clinical Trials Network "Women and Trauma" study as a case example. Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment, 56, 23-33. DOI:10.1016/j.jsat.2015.04.001

Hilsenroth, M. (2016, June). Psychodynamic technique related to outcome for depressed patients. Presented at the Department of Psychiatry, Bronx-Lebanon Hospital Center, Bronx, NY.

Hilsenroth, M. (2016, June). Some effective strategies for the psychodynamic supervision of technique. Presented at the 12th International Interdisciplinary Conference on Clinical Supervision, Garden City, NY.

Hilsenroth, M., Mayotte-Blum, J., Kuutmann, K., & Capps, K. (in press, 2016). Therapeutic immediacy: If your tears could speak...what would they say? In A. Blume-Marcovici (Ed.), When therapists cry: Reflections on therapists' tears in therapy. Oxford, United Kingdom: Routledge.

Josephs, L. (2016). A dialectical approach to the treatment of sexual disgust: Reply to commentaries by Blechner, Nathan, and Willock. Psychoanalytic Dialogues, 26, 454-459.

Josephs, L. (2016). Treating oedipal disgust: When one person's delight is the other's disgust. Psychoanalytic Dialogues, 26, 410-426.

Kane, F. A., & Bornstein, R. F. (2016). Beyond passivity: Dependency as a risk factor for intimate partner violence. Personality and Mental Health, 10, 12-21.

Keefe, J. R., Phillips, A., Barber, J. P., Chambless, D., Busch, F. N., & Milrod, B. (2016, June). Therapist panic focus and intensity of interpretation in predicting panic symptom outcomes and mediators of panic change in Panic-Focused Psychodynamic Psychotherapy. Talk presented at the 47th International Annual Meeting of the Society for Psychotherapy Research, Jerusalem, Israel.

Killeen, T., Brewerton, T. D., Campbell, A., Cohen, L. R., & Hien, D. A. (2015). Exploring the relationship between eating disorder symptoms and substance use severity in women with comorbid PTSD and substance use disorders. The American Journal of Drug and Alcohol Abuse, 41(6), 547-552.

McClure, M. J., Xu, J. H., & Shrout, P. E. (2016). The what and the why: A bottom-up approach to understanding the costs of support receipt. Presented in K. S. Zee & M. J. McClure (Chairs), Maximizing social support's benefits: The who, when, what, why and how. Biennial Research Conference of the International Association for Relationships Research, Toronto, ON, Canada.

McClure, M. J., Xu, J. H., Shrout, P. E., & Bolger, N. (2015). Examining cognitive and affective reactions to received support in daily life. Presented in D. R. Marigold (Chair), Reconciling the costs and benefits of enacted social support.

When, why, and for whom does receiving support lead to negative outcomes? Annual Conference of the Society of Experimental Social Psychology, Denver, CO.

Mendelsohn, R. (in press). Review of the book Couple dynamics: Psychoanalytic perspectives in work with the individual, the couple, and the group, by A. Novakovic (Ed.). International Journal of Group Psychotherapy.

Muran, J. C., & Safran, J. D. (2016). Therapeutic alliance ruptures. In A. E. Wenzel (Ed.), Sage encyclopedia of abnormal and clinical psychology. New York, NY: Sage.

Najavits, L., Hyman, S. M., Ruglass, L. M., Hien, D. A., & Read, J. (in press). Substance abuse and trauma. In L. Najavits & S. Hyman (Eds.), American Psychological Association handbook of trauma psychology. New York, NY: American Psychological Association Press.

Newirth, J. (2016). A Kleinian perspective on dissociation and trauma: Miscarriages in symbolization. In E. Howell & S. Itskowitz (Eds.), The dissociative mind in psychoanalysis (107-117). New York, NY: Routledge/Taylor and Francis.

Newirth, J. (2016). Frankenstein, spellbound and world war z: Evolving concepts of the unconscious. Psychoanalytic Psychology, 33(Suppl. 1), S75-S89.

Newirth, J. (2016, April). Introduction. In J. Newirth (Organizer and chair), Psychotic anxieties and containment: Transformational processes in psychoanalysis and supervision. Panel presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

Newirth, J. (2016, April). Learning to ride a bicycle: Procedural learning and supervision. Paper presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

Newirth, J. (2016, April). Overcoming the shame of cancer. Paper presented at the Annual Spring Meeting of Division 39 of the American Psychological Association, Atlanta, GA.

Newirth, J. (2016). Pleasure in the transitional space: Intersubjectivity and transformation, Contemporary Psychoanalysis, 51(4), 1-26.

Newirth, J. (2015). Psychoanalysis' past, present and future: Sherlock Holmes, Sir Lancelot and the Wizard of Oz. Psychoanalytic Psychology, 32(2), 307-320.

Newirth, J. (2016, June). The poetic function in relational psychoanalysis. Paper presented at the Annual International Association for Relational Psychoanalysis and Psychotherapy (IARPP) Conference, Rome, Italy.

O'Loughlin, M. (2016). A manifesto for critical narrative research and pedagogy for/with young children: Teacher and child as critical annalist. Journal of Pedagogy, 7, 11-24.

O'Loughlin, M. (2016). Foreword. In S. Alcock (Ed.), Young children playing: Relational approaches to emotional learning in early childhood settings. Singapore: Springer.

O'Loughlin, M. (2016). Review of the book What is psychoanalysis?: 100 Years After Freud's Secret Committee, by B. B. Barratt. Psychoanalytic Psychology, 33, 349-54.

Papini, S., Sullivan, G., Hien, D. A., Shvil, E., & Neria, Y. (2015). Towards a translational approach to targeting the endocannabinoid system in posttraumatic stress disorder: A critical review of preclinical research. Biological Psychology, 104, 8-18.

Ruglass, L. M., Espinosa, A., Sheyvorkin, A., Sykes, K., Dambreville, N., Nicholson, R., & Hien, D. A. (in press). Direct and indirect effects of cumulative trauma, PTSD, and substance use disorder on probability of arrest among lower income African American and Latina women. Race and Justice Journal.

Ruglass, L. M., Pedersen, A., Cheref, S., Hu, M. C., & Hien, D. A. (2015). Racial differences in adherence and response to combined treatment for full and subthreshold post-traumatic stress disorder and alcohol use disorders: A secondary analysis. Journal of Ethnicity in Substance Abuse, 30, 1-15.

Santini, Z. I., Fiori, K. L., Feeney, J., Tyrovolas, S., Haro, J. P., & Koyanagi, A. (2016). Social relationships, loneliness, and mental health among older men and women in Ireland: A prospective community-based study. Journal of Affective Disorders, 204, 59-69.

Santini, Z. I., Koyanagi, A., Tyrovolas, S., Haro, J. M., Fiori, K. L., Uwakwa, R., Thiagarajan, J. A., Webber, M., Prince, M., & Prina, A. M. (2015). Social network typologies and mortality risk among older people in China, India, and Latin America: A 10/66 Dementia Research Group population-based cohort study. Social Science & Medicine, 147, 134-143.

Shingleton, R. M., Pratt, E. M., Gorman, B., Barlow, D. H., Palfai, T. P., & Thompson-Brenner, H. (2016). Motivational text message intervention for eating disorders: A single case alternating treatment design using ecological momentary assessment. Behavior Therapy, 47, 287-430.

Springer, C. (2016, June). Using community voices to inform mental health care and practice. Oral presentation at the Division of Women's Issues, NYSPA, Margaret Floy Washburn Award Presentation, New York, NY.

Springer, C. (2016, March). Using community voices to shape health care programs and policy. Oral presentation to the Forum on Applied Psychology, Fordham University, New York, NY.

Springer, C., & Pellman, J. (2016, March). Engaging community members to foster environmental change. Symposium conducted at the Eastern Psychological Association Annual Meeting, New York, NY.

Call for Papers

NYC

What?	When?	Where?	Submissions due!	More info...
North American Society for the Study of Personality Disorders 2017 Annual Conference	4/7 - 4/8/2017	New York, NY	11/16/2016	http://nasspd.org/annual-conference.php
American Psychopathological Association 107 th Annual Meeting	4/2 - 4/4/2017	New York, NY	12/15/2016	www.appassn.org/poster.html
12 th International Interdisciplinary Conference on Clinical Supervision	6/14 - 6/16/2017	Garden City, NY	2/1/2017	http://socialwork.adelphi.edu/news-events/events/international-interdisciplinary-conference-on-clinical-supervision/call-for-abstracts

National

What?	When?	Where?	Submissions due!	More info...
Eastern Psychological Association Annual Meeting	3/16 - 3/18/2017	Boston, MA	11/15/2016	www.easternpsychological.org/i4a/pages/index.cfm?page-id=3501
Western Psychological Association 97 th Annual Meeting	4/27 - 4/30/2017	Sacramento, CA	11/15/2016	westernpsych.org/wpa-convention-call-for-papers
Association for Psychological Science 29 th Annual Convention	5/25 - 5/28/2017	Boston, MA	12/1/2016 (symposiums); 1/31/2017 (posters)	www.psychologicalscience.org/index.php/convention/call-for-submissions
American Psychological Association 125 th Annual Convention	8/3 - 8/6/2017	Washington, DC	12/1/2016	www.apa.org/convention/proposals.aspx
Society for the Exploration of Psychotherapy Integration XXXIII rd Annual Meeting	5/18 - 5/21/2017	Denver, CO	12/18/2016	http://c.ymcdn.com/sites/www.sepiweb.org/resource/resmgr/sepi2017/sepi2017_CallForSubmissions.pdf
American Psychology-Law Society Annual Conference	3/16 - 3/18/2017	Seattle, WA	TBA	www.apls-students.org/ap-ls-conference.html
Rocky Mountain Psychological Association 87 th Annual Convention	4/6 - 4/8/2017	Salt Lake City, UT	TBA	www.rockymountainpsych.org/future-conventions.html

International Association for Relationship Research Mini-Conference	6/23 - 6/25/2017	Syracuse, NY	TBA	http://www.iarr.org/conferences
Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies 51 st Annual Convention	11/16 - 11/19/2017	San Diego, CA	TBA	www.abct.org/Conventions/?m=mConvention&fa=Past-FutureConvention

International

What?	When?	Where?	Submissions due!	More info...
30 th European Psychoanalytical Federation Annual Conference	4/7 - 4/9/2017	Hague, The Netherlands	11/30/2016	www.epf-fep.eu/eng/page/epf-congress-the-hague-2017-application-for-individual-papers
9 th International Congress of Cognitive Psychotherapy	6/29 - 7/1/2017	Cluj-Napoca, Transylvania, Romania	11/30/2016 (symposiums and papers); 2/15/2017 (posters)	www.iccp2017.org/index.php/abstract-submission
15 th European Congress of Psychology	7/11 - 7/14/2017	Amsterdam, The Netherlands	11/30/2016	http://psychologycongress.eu/2017/hotels
XXII nd International Congress of the Society of Rorschach and Projective Methods	7/17 - 7/21/2017	Paris, France	12/1/2016	www.rorschachparis2017.org/Communications/en
International Association for Cross-Cultural Psychology 11 th Regional Conference	7/16 - 7/19/2017	Warsaw, Poland	12/15/2016	http://swps.pl/nauka-i-badania/konferencje/iaccp2017
6 th World Congress on ADHD	4/20 - 4/23/2017	Vancouver, Canada	1/6/2017	www.adhd-congress.org/abstract-submission
20 th International Congress of the International Society for Psychological and Social Approaches to Psychosis	8/30 - 9/3/2017	Liverpool, United Kingdom	1/12/2017	www.isps2017uk.org/call-abstracts
International Attachment Conference of the Society for Emotion and Attachment Studies	6/29 - 7/1/2017	London, United Kingdom	2/3/2017	www.iac2017.co.uk/abstracts
Society for Psychotherapy Research 48 th International Annual Meeting	6/21 - 6/24/2017	Toronto, Canada	TBA	www.psychotherapyresearch.org/events/EventDetails.aspx?id=790790&group=
Society for Psychotherapy Research UK and European Chapter Conference	9/20 - 9/22/2017	Oxford, United Kingdom	TBA	www.psychotherapyresearch.org/events/EventDetails.aspx?id=815301&group=

Stay in Touch!

Your feedback is extremely valuable to us and will help enhance future issues. Did you find the newsletter interesting? What would you like to see in future issues? Please let us know your opinions and comments.

Editorial Team

Jett Stone, Editor: jettstone@gmail.com

John Burke, Editor: JohnBurke@mail.adelphi.edu

Rachel Small, Layout Editor: rachelsmall@mail.adelphi.edu

Summer Book Picks from the Editors

Day Residue editors Jett Stone, John Burke, and Rachel Small chose these three as their favorite summer reads. Can you guess who backs each book?

Stay Tuned for...
DAY RESIDUE Fall 2017...

<http://derner.adelphi.edu/news-and-events/newsletter/day-residue>